

Dear Sugar Land Residents:

David G. Wallace
Mayor

As a community we are fortunate that active citizens make such a strong contribution to Sugar Land's success. Our sense of unity in the community is very apparent as residents, businesses and City government all work together to help achieve the goals presented on this page. We couldn't do it without you.

Sugar Land's 2005 calendar features photos and captions of the City's accomplishments toward meeting the goals established by City Council for 2004 to 2009. In addition, we want to share with you more detail about the City's activities during 2004, a period of continuing economic development matched with a population growth to more than 70,000.

Allen Bogard
City Manager

After five years of planning, Sugar Land Town Square took shape as a new downtown that creates a city center and builds on our ongoing efforts continuation of the Town Square project. The accomplishments we achieve as a City are a direct result of our commitment to maintain a strong team of employees. An excellent example of our ability to attract outstanding professionals is our new police chief. We are strengthening our commitment to accountability of individual beats, reaching out to the community to help make Sugar Land one of the safest cities possible. We have implemented strategies and programs specifically related to a management audit conducted by a nationally recognized law enforcement consulting firm. These include adding public safety personnel through the budget process, creating a mini police academy for officers new to Sugar Land and restructuring existing resources to meet the needs of our growing city.

We have also expanded our fire service to provide a heightened level of emergency medical service and address a need for hazardous materials

good neighbor in the community.

Responding to citizen feedback, the Parks/ Recreation and Open Space Master Plan continues to be evaluated. As part of this process, the City is studying possible partnerships to develop recreational uses for 420 acres of parkland along the Brazos River and the adjacent 50 acres owned by the University of Houston System at Sugar Land. The design of Phase I of the Brazos River project will take place in 2005 with initial construction beginning in 2006.

to maintain a vibrant business district. At the heart of this public-private development is the new Sugar Land City Hall, which sits in the middle of a 32-acre mixed-use development. This pedestrian-oriented main street and a central business district offers: 1) a 1.2 acre plaza; 2) Class A office environment; 3) lifestyle retail, services, restaurants and entertainment; 4) residential condominiums; and 5) a four-star hotel and conference center.

Over the last year we have planned and provided for the City's development. A year-long process has resulted in a future Land Use Plan, a document that provides the City Council guidance for land development and the City's physical form. The Council also developed a policy for addressing service and annexation related to developed areas in the City's Extraterritorial Jurisdiction. Additionally, 2000 acres of undeveloped land was annexed into the City, allowing City Council to guide the development of Newland Communities' proposed mixed-use, master-planned community. Other significant developments included the new Lake Pointe mixed-use development along with response capability. Through a reallocation of departmental assets, firefighters received training that allows every fire crew to deliver expanded medical procedures during emergencies. This significantly improves our ability to ensure the safety of our citizens, as minutes can make the difference between life and death. In 2004, Sugar Land Fire Department received over $1.18 million in grant funds for improved communications with other emergency response agencies, hazardous material response and equipment to be used to benefit not only the City of Sugar Land, but to assist Fort

Bend County and other agencies when necessary. Sugar Land Regional Airport continues to be successful in implementing a business plan that leverages state and federal grants to maintain its position as a leader in the corporate aviation market. The Airport is a self-supporting operation generating revenues from corporate fuel sales and related fees. Major capital improvements continue through grant funds that have totaled $20 million during the last five years. Recent projects include a new terminal and general aviation center, which emphasize the Airport's goal of providing a safe environment. As always, our goal is to responsibly manage the Airport's growth in an effort to be a

Through this time of positive residential and business expansion, we've continued to foster and preserve relationships with citizens. Last year, we implemented several initiatives that ensure greater connectivity, including four District Town Hall meetings; an enhanced Community Action Center to allow citizens to either call in or use www.sugarlandtx.gov for questions or concerns; a new municipal cable television channel; and Sugar Land 101, a 10-week program exposing participants to all facets of municipal government.

During the last year, we approved a budget that lowered the tax rate and increased exemptions for seniors and persons with disabilities. Highlights of the budget include a $25.7 million capital improvement program, 11 new positions for the Police Department and one cent of the tax rate dedicated for drainage needs.

The photos and captions in this calendar represent our City goals. They illustrate our commitment to partner with our citizens, building relationships that foster community trust and ensure that Sugar Land remains the community of choice.

Thank you for living in Sugar Land,

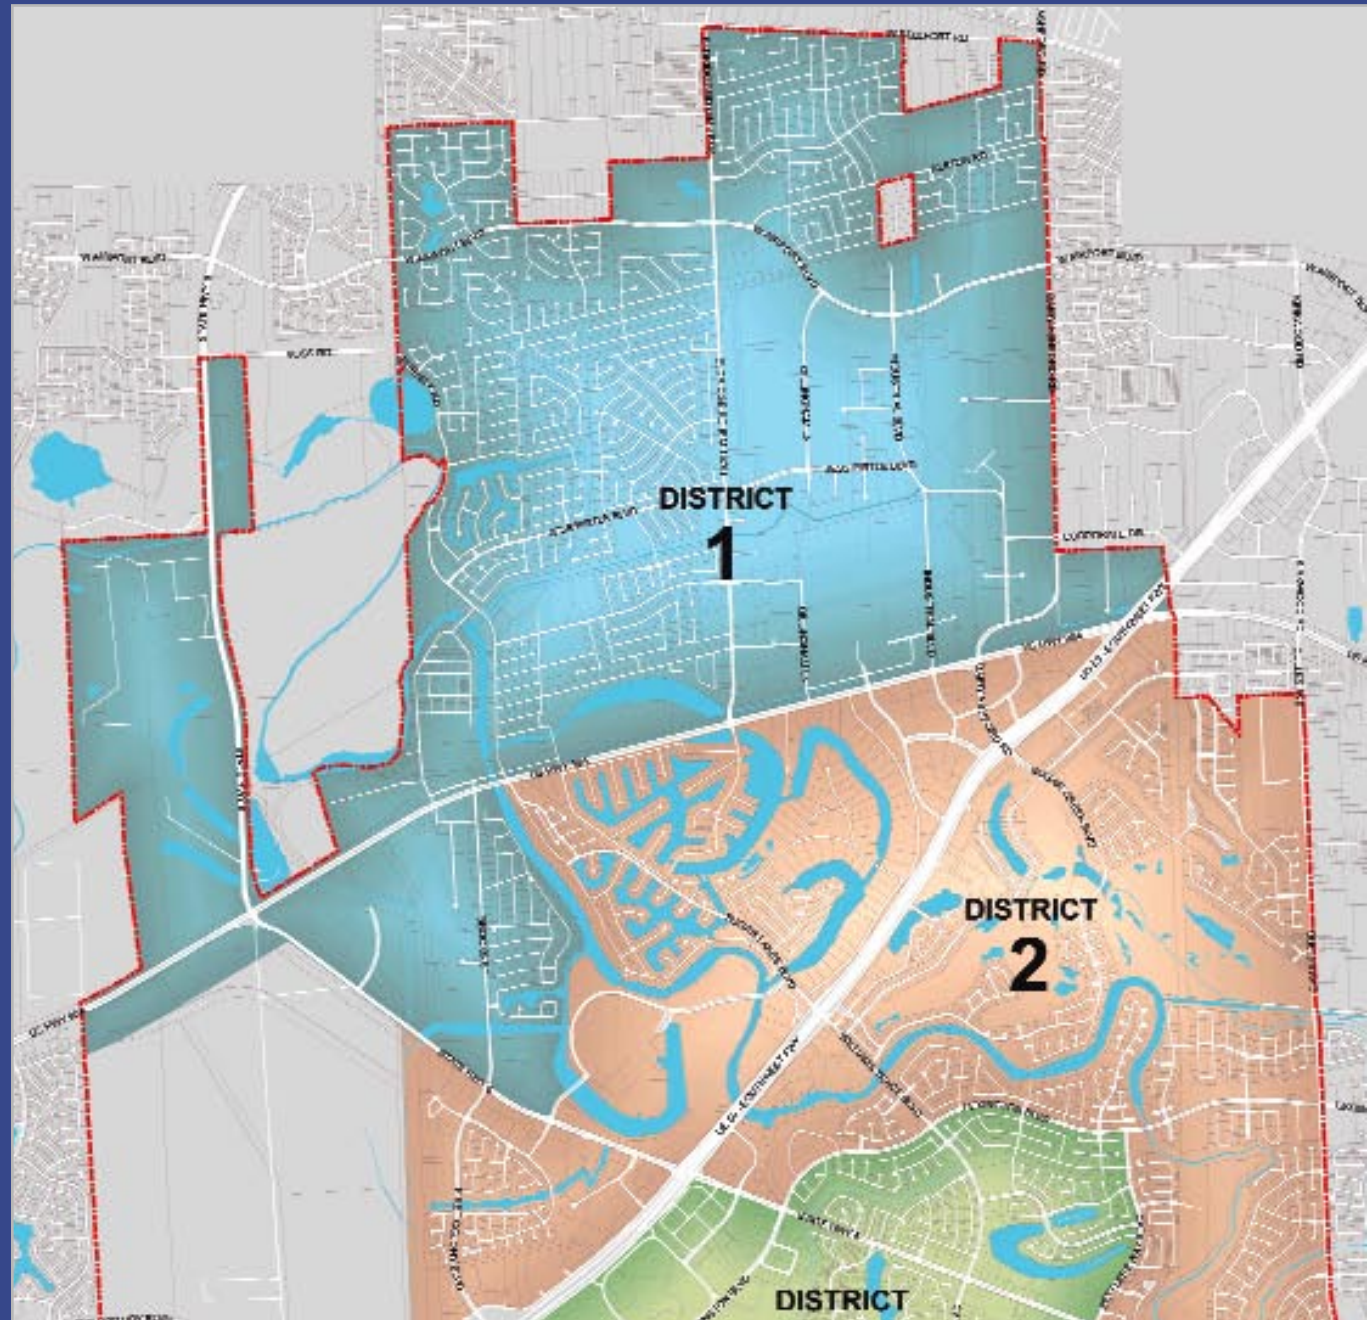

Sugar Land City Council

Sugar Land was incorporated Dec. 29, 1959 and chartered as a home rule city on Jan. 17, 1981, which provides for a council/manager form of government. Under this system, seven elected officials serve two-year terms, with a term limit of four consecutive terms. City Council is comprised of the mayor and two at-large members elected by citizens throughout the City, and four district members who are elected from citizens residing in the geographic areas represented in the adjacent map. Voters within each of the four single-member districts elect their council member in odd years. The mayor and two at-large members are elected by all voters in even years.

City Council is responsible for making policy decisions, enacting ordinances, approving the budget and setting the annual property tax rate. Council appoints the city manager, who acts as the chief executive officer of the government. The city manager carries out policy and administers City programs. All department directors, including the city attorney, police chief and fire chief, are ultimately responsible to the city manager.

Meetings

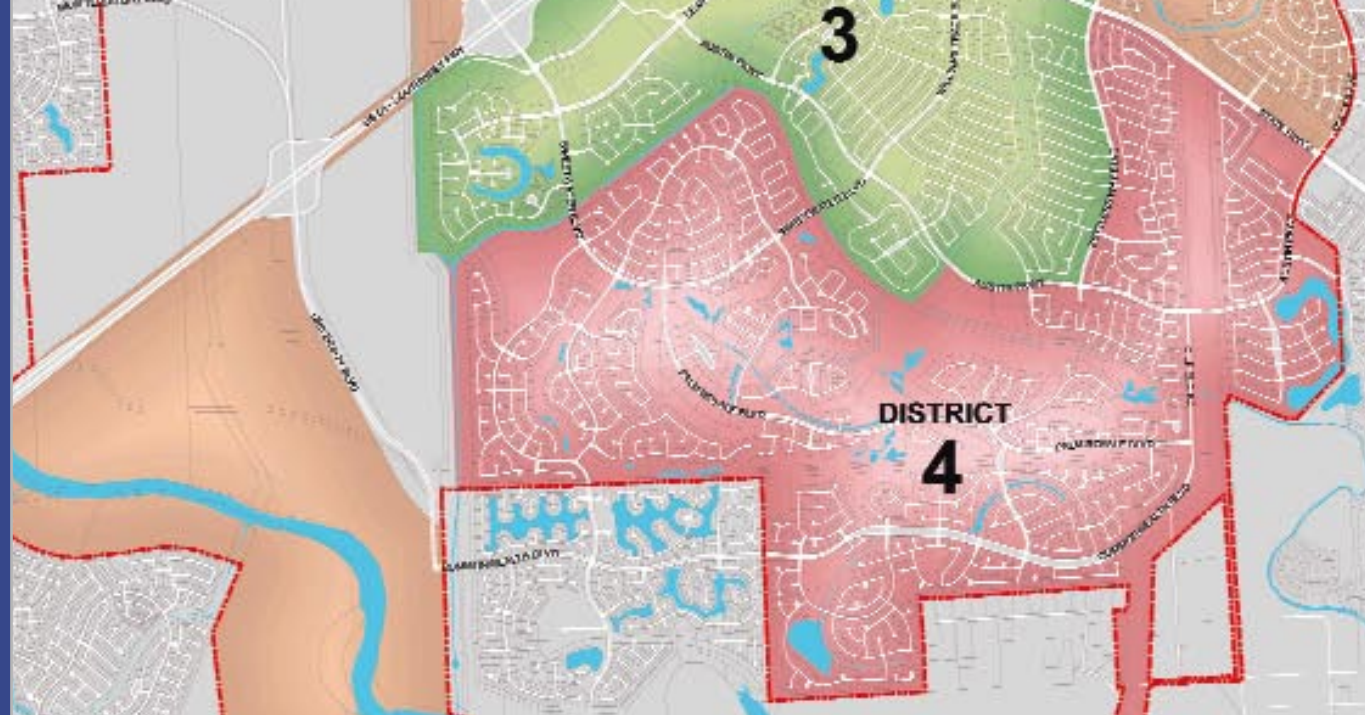

City Council meetings are held at Sugar Land City Hall, 2700 Town Center Boulevard North, on the first and third Tuesday of each month at 5:30 p.m. Council workshops are held on the fourth Tuesday. Residents are welcome to attend these public meetings in the City Council Chamber on the first floor. City Council meetings are streamed live on the City's website www.sugarlandtx.gov and archived meetings also are available on the site. For Time Warner cable subscribers, the meetings are rebroadcast on SLtv 16.

Boards and Commissions

Sugar Land would not be what it is today if not for the dedicated service of citizen volunteers. Citizens are encouraged to serve on one of Sugar Land's nine boards and commissions: Aviation Policy Advisory Board, Animal Control Advisory Board, Building Codes Board of Adjustment and Appeals, Parks and Recreation Advisory Board, Planning and Zoning Commission, Sugar Land Development Corporation, Sugar Land 4B Corporation, Tax Increment Reinvestment Zone No. 1 and Zoning Board of Adjustment. Those interested in serving on a board or commission or in one of the City's many volunteer opportunities should call the city secretary at (281) 275-2730 for an application form or apply in person at City Hall. An online application is available at www.sugarlandtx.gov. Just click on Government.

Capital Improvements

What is a capital improvement? A capital improvement (we call them CIP) is a major, non-routine expenditure for new construction, major equipment purchases, or improvements to existing buildings, facilities, land, streets, storm sewers and expansion of the City's park system.

Sugar Land has developed a five-year $112 million Capital Improvement Plan that provides a schedule and funding projection. As some projects bridge more than one budget year, a five-year plan can reflect new projects but also takes into consideration changes to ongoing projects.

The current budget year plans for capital spending of $25.7 million. The majority of improvements are streets and water/wastewater projects. Residents can check the schedules of specific projects by going to www.sugarlandtx.gov and click Cap Improvements on the right column.

Responsible City Government

Sugar Land's $17.8 million City Hall opened in late 2004 on schedule and within budget. The 82,000-square-foot building will serve the City's projected ultimate population of 200,000. City Hall's new location in the 32-acre mixed-use Sugar Land Town Square gives the City a more centralized presence in town, bringing more residents closer to their main city government building. Join us for tours and events for the whole family at our community-wide City Hall dedication Jan. 7 with tours at 3 p.m. and formal ceremony at 5:30 p.m.

Mobility for People

During the next four years, motorists will be inconvenienced and traffic will be challenging as four major road projects commence and are completed as we work toward improving mobility for us all. Motorists are urged to use caution in the construction areas of the U.S. 59 Expansion-Phase II (State Highway 6 to north of State Highway 99) and Phase III (at State Highway 99 interchange), State Highway 6/U.S. 90A Expansion (from First Colony Boulevard/ Brooks Street to north of U.S. 90A) and U.S. 90A Expansion (from U.S. 59 to State Highway 6). We'll keep you informed of the progress.

Well Planned Community

In early 2004, Major Field in City Park was renamed to Fehrle Field to honor the memory of Tom Fehrle and his many contributions to Sugar Land's civic life, including his work with Sugar Land Little League. Public involvement with Parks and Recreation will guide Sugar Land to plan further for healthy lifestyles for citizens of all ages. This includes the development of the Brazos River Corridor as a premier, natural destination for the City and the region.

Strong Local Economy

As a catalyst for continued economic growth, Sugar Land takes a lead in promoting regional economic development. The Grand Food & Wine Affair, managed by the Fort Bend Chamber of Commerce, is one such opportunity for both local residents and visitors. The plaza in Sugar Land Town Square offers a beautiful setting for citizens to gather for celebrations and special events like this. Sugar Land Regional Airport draws general aviation pilots as well as corporate jet clients who appreciate its convenience, customer service and aviation safety.

Livable Neighborhoods

A public-private partnership laid the foundation for Oyster Creek Park's success. Continued budgeting for amenities for this park, Imperial Park, Eldridge Park and others in Sugar Land's community park system add value to neighborhoods. Residents also benefit from capital improvements such as water/wastewater projects and drainage, street and sidewalk improvements.

Responsible City Government

District Town Halls are a part of Sugar Land initiatives to connect with residents and provide them opportunities to engage with neighbors, City Council and City personnel. Councilmembers from Sugar Land's four districts each host these meetings to inform citizens about City services in general and issues important to their district. An "open mike" session gives residents immediate response to their questions. Attendees say they appreciate this innovative approach to involving citizens in their local government.

Well Planned Community

Intelligent zoning and comprehensive planning make Sugar Land a good environment for homeowners and businesses. Planning allows the City to influence the quality and style of growth in tandem with planning for green space, freeway beautification and overall attractiveness of our City. To keep development standards consistent, the City provides adequate infrastructure and services to both support growth and sustain our community.

Safest City in the Area

Traffic, patrol and crime prevention officers and detectives work as a team to help make our City even safer. This beat accountability concept along with Sugar Land Police's partnership with the community allows us to build on our value as a safe City. The annual National Night Out, pictured here, is just one example of working together to deter crime. Last year, residents organized about 150 block parties where neighbors met neighbors and invited public safety and City officials.

Safest City in the Area

Federal grant dollars this past year helped the Sugar Land Fire Department to continue to expand homeland security initiatives with the addition of new equipment and specialized training. The emergency medical services capabilities at the City's six fire stations also are expanding with two personnel on each shift having emergency medical technician training. The fire education program continues its outreach in elementary schools and now also reaches high school students and senior citizens.

Livable Neighborhoods

Throughout Sugar Land, commercial and residential areas successfully blend. The integrity of neighborhoods is maintained by emphasizing homeownership and the redevelopment of older commercial areas. Business sales taxes, driven largely by recent retail expansion south of U.S. 59, help keep Sugar Land property taxes low.

Strong Local Economy

Sugar Land's strong local economy is driven by a large retail and commercial tax base and strengthened further by sound fiscal policy. The City has been successful in attracting a diverse business base and working with current employers in their expansion plans. Sugar Land Regional Airport supports the business community through general and corporate aviation capacities, which will be enhanced this year by $18 million in general aviation improvements, 90 percent of which is funded through federal aviation block grants.
